

MARCOS DELLA PAOLERA

I was born in 1961 in Buenos Aires, Argentina, since 1987 I live in Switzerland. Passioned for travels and big cities, I started photography as an autodidact in 1980.

I try to catch out the ordinary and extraordinary moments of urban life.

I'm convinced that there is «plenty of opportunity to capture a singular and unique moment». I'm fascinated by the power of the photography that can transform a single moment in a eternal emotion.

Having a camera allow me to meet people, but it also provided me a form of self-expression.
