

KEVIN MALBAS

Born in London in 1988

I first started doing documentary style photography, photographing local bands going to protests and exploring new places through a camera. I later went to London College of Communications to study photography for a year and then later moved down to study Fine Art photography at The Arts Institute at Bournemouth, where I' am currently based.

Expo:

2008. London College of Communication Gallery

2009 The Art's Institute at Bournemouth end of year Exhibition